Moulton and Tilton in Conference

New York July [illegible] There is nothing [illegible] make known this morning concerning the Beecher scandal. [illegible] were in consultation yesterday [illegible] Moulton acting under the advice of Gen. Butler. When Moulton is invited by the Committee it is believed he will testify. Tilton however thinks only a court of law can compel him to speak. Friends of Tilton say Tilton has expressed an opinion that the evidence adduced during the investigation will convict Beecher [illegible] Committee [illegible] favorable testimony. The Committee [illegible] decided that [illegible] until Tilton's statement [illegible] strengthened by something more than his own affidavit.

Moulton was called [illegible] yesterday to the bedside of his [illegible] wife.

Beecher returned from Peekskill yesterday and chatted pleasantly with some church members on the doorsteps in the evening. If Moulton does not answer the call [illegible] to-day Beecher's testimony will be taken without delay.

Beecher yesterday remained [illegible] and saw [illegible] Tracy says he was in good spirits and worked on his [illegible] to-morrow. He will [illegible] the committee [illegible] Mrs. Tilton will [illegible] Moulton [illegible] a week [illegible] with the verdict of the Committee will be published.

CHICAGO July 24--A special says that when Tilton first came before the Committee he proposed that if Beecher would [illegible] from the pulpit he would prepare a card vindicating him and the removal of suspicion. The Committee rejected the idea and Tilton in a passion [illegible] Beecher was [illegible] Sage Chairman of the Committee said [illegible] the Committee were not cowards and they intend to sift the matter thoroughly without compromise and [illegible] must suffer [illegible] [illegible] proof that on the day of his alleged adultery [illegible] was at Peekskill. [illegible] Tilton's [illegible] when he speaks of Mrs. Tilton [illegible] suffering [illegible] mentally because of the death of a young child. The death took place [illegible] The Committee state that the examination of Beecher will be much more complete than that of any other person who has been examined. He will be required to give the full [illegible] every circumstance.

New York July 24--The [illegible] thus [illegible] made a supplementary statement [illegible] In his interview with the reporter [illegible] of his cross-examination by the Committee have been [illegible] and misrepresentations [illegible] furnished to the reporters by [illegible] the Committee [illegible] which the Committee are not responsible. Counsel are [illegible] They will be the worst beaten [illegible] ever [illegible] the investigation into the character of his female associates. He informed the committee yesterday that he deprecated such a [illegible] forced upon him by the committee [illegible] could draw the sword [illegible] It this new issue [illegible] the remainder of the controversy it would be better for Beecher that he had never been born. I still further suggested that the case had come to [illegible] it would be better for the committee to [illegible] the internal examination in [illegible] but myself has thus far spoken [illegible] I expressed a willingness to be sued for libel or to be put in any other way before a tribunal which could compel witnesses to testify under oath and which could punish perjury with the State prison. If this case with all the facts which lie behind it revealed and unraveled were now before a criminal court instead of a [illegible] committee and if Beecher's printed statement had been made under oath subject to cross questioning and over [illegible] he would indeed be compelled to step down and out. I feel at liberty [illegible] free [illegible] because Beecher's counsel have [illegible] me to the world and I have no recourse but to [illegible] the face."

MEDIEVAL PERSECUTIONS OF THE JEWS

The [illegible] in the course of an interesting [illegible] account says that the Jews [illegible] by a strong taste for [illegible] an insatiable love of gain [illegible] [illegible] were received with aversion and disgust [illegible] [illegible] perpetually [illegible] worn [illegible] [illegible] the Oriental strangers as his own peculiar [illegible] They were his bondsmen [illegible] when he was able and [illegible] them when he wanted money [illegible] Christian neighbors [illegible] they were forced or probably preferred [illegible] apart in a quarter of the city [illegible] their synagogues and [illegible] school houses amidst ceaseless [illegible] The ignorant priests followed them with [illegible] and the still more ignorant populace pelted them with stones and [illegible] [illegible] Accomplished and [illegible] The Jews' quarter seemed to the [illegible] a centre of mystery and [illegible] It was believed that the Jews were in the habit of stealing the host from the altar [illegible] with secret rites [illegible] enticed away Christian children [illegible] stab them with [illegible] When a child strayed away [illegible] the Christian mother [illegible] [illegible] had been [illegible] Jews [illegible] [illegible] The [illegible] [illegible] the Jews [illegible] [illegible] husbands first killed their wives and [illegible] the corpses of murdered Jews [illegible] [illegible] Austria and [illegible] perished [illegible] themselves [illegible] numbers [illegible] thirst and hunger disease [illegible] Nor was the second army [illegible] When Jerusalem fell they massacred all the Jews men women and children whom they found in the city, and with tears of joy knelt before the Holy Sepulchre. Yet they might have heard in the hall of their [illegible] the thunders of Sinai and their own condemnation uttered from the flaming mount.

The Territorial Republican Central Committee will meet at Olympia on the 28th inst. to [illegible]

Judging from the smoke at Olympia for some [illegible] raging in the woods [illegible] north and west of the town.

In one of the gardens in Salt Lake City apricots have been cooked on the tree [illegible] hot sun.

Private parties talk of getting up an agricultural fair at Walla Walla. What is the matter with the society.

A correspondent of the Walla Walla Union says: "A four legged chicken exists on [illegible] [illegible] W. F. [illegible] Fuller than that.

[illegible] regulators were sold in Salt Lake City last year which indicates a healthy condition of the baby market.

There are now sixty two Granges of the Order of Patrons of Husbandry in Colorado Territory with a total membership of 2,500.

The reporter of the Olympia Courier thinks the moon has got off her accustomed track. He says he never saw her so far south before.

The [illegible] of one stage was robbed on the 2d inst. by four masked men. J. C. Jackson was robbed but the robbers recognizing him paid back his money.

The forests in the vicinity of the Tumwater Reservation on Puget Sound are on fire to such an alarming extent as to fill the atmosphere for miles around with smoke.

On the evening of the 23d there were seven [illegible] lying in the harbor at Port Blake[illegible] ones sailed the same evening leaving six to load with lumber for foreign and American ports.

The Dispatch says: "Two sailors left Seattle on the 22d in a small skiff for Port Blakely since which time neither the men or the boats have been seen at Blakely. It is believed the men were drowned."

A son of James Egan [illegible] Vermillion Dakota was killed by the cars last week. The little fellow a two year old who went [illegible] the track had been away from the house only about fifteen minutes.

The residence of Wm. Knight Union county Dakota was struck by lightning recently and the whole family [illegible] for some time but they are all right now. The soles of the boots on one of the boys were torn off and a [illegible] shattered all over his body.

Says an Arizona paper: "Smallpox need not be feared here--it will not come here. The gnats and mosquitoes are occupying the entire ground, and are now working it vigorously and under the mining law extension no relocations can be made before winter."

The Tribune says: "Nearly a dozen stones have been placed on the new Temple in Salt Lake City this season at a cost of about a thousand dollars apiece. This building figures up this way: Twenty years ago the foundation was laid. To-day that foundation is twelve feet above the ground, and the $9,000 collected abroad for the building of the Temple have found their way into Brigham's bag. He holds the bag."

Joe Putney is no more, killed by an Indian at Sterling Rock last week. No one wanted to hang the Indian who did it with his little hatchet, or mourned the loss of Joe. None followed his remains to their last resting place. He was buried like a dog except that a rude coffin encased his remains. Joe was a drunken vagabond, a convicted felon. He sold the Indian whisky, and quarreled with him [illegible] knocked him down. The Indian shot him.

In the northwestern corner of the Territory of Wyoming set like a gem among the mountains is located the most beautiful lake on this continent if not in the world. Adjacent to it are the sources of four of our most mighty rivers--the Yellowstone flowing into the Missouri at a distance of 1,300 miles, the Missouri itself which finds its way to the gulf through the Father of Waters, the Columbia which leads to the Pacific, and the Colorado which in passing through the most remarkable canon in the world discharges its waters into the Gulf of California. Grouped around this wonderful lake and in the midst of this remarkable water shed is the grandest display of cataract, hot springs, geysers, mud volcanos and natural architectural beauties anywhere to be found on the face of the globe.

ELECTROLYSIS EXTRAORDINARY

A curious story comes from Whitehall in the State of New York. Three years ago a certain General Kilpatrick had a remarkable operation performed upon him by a physician in New York who removed a fleshy formation from the General's neck by [illegible] [illegible] minutes [illegible] the current of electricity was [illegible] the [illegible] had entirely disappeared. A more extraordinary operation than this was, however, performed by a Whitehall physician a few days ago, if we are to believe the Whitehall Times. A gentleman who had been suffering from a superabundance of adipose tissue consulted the physician, seeking relief from its burden. The doctor told him he could relieve him if he would consent to a painful operation. The gentleman consented and with the medical practitioner entered the telegraph office of that place. The fat man was requested to remove his coat and vest, after which the physician surrounded him with wire [illegible] the ends to a powerful battery. At a signal from the doctor [illegible] [illegible] let on the current. The patient writhed and twisted when he felt the current passing around him, still, he stood it like a martyr. Presently he began to shrink. He grew smaller and smaller, his clothing hung in bags about his fast diminishing form. The doctor felt much pleased at the result of his experiment, while the formerly fat man was very great, although he seemed to be suffering acute pain. All of a sudden there was [illegible] clicking at the instrument as if [illegible] [illegible] had been let loose. The operator sprang quickly to answer the call. He ascertained it was from the New York [illegible] He quickly asked "What's up?" An answer came back as if some infuriated demon was at the other end of the wire: "What in thunder are you about? Cut off [illegible] you [illegible] the New York [illegible] grease."--Gr[illegible]

THE SCIENCE OF GRASSHOPPERS

A Washington dispatch says:

[illegible] Thomas, of the Smithsonian Institute who has made the subject of the grasshopper [illegible] study for the government [illegible] expresses the opinion that the farmers of the Northwest have little to fear from a recurrence of the present scourge next year. He says that the natural habit and hatching place is the high table lands of the plains and that the [illegible] which occasionally sweep down on the prairie lands bordering the Mississippi valley produce no brood the second year and then [illegible] The chances are all against a new invasion next year.

[illegible] what a [illegible] being, a scientific man [illegible] who is able to study into things and find out more about grasshoppers than they know themselves. If it were not a fact that the southwestern Minnesota grasshoppers [illegible] last year [illegible] and that the present broods are the lineal descendants of last year's devastators, we should think highly of Professor Thomas' theory. The better opinion is, as experience shows, that the hoppers instinctively leave a district after having exhausted it, and are too much disgusted with its poverty to return to it.--St. Paul Press.

GREAT EXPECTATIONS.--The heirs of the £[illegible]4,000,000 (!) Marr estate in Scotland residing in Michigan will meet in Lansing September 1, to prepare a plan of action.

OREGON

The [illegible] the thresher has been heard in [illegible] of Marion.

Hay pitting has begun. A French [illegible] [illegible] 20th [illegible]

A Salem [illegible] did [illegible] cash business of $24,000 during the year ending July 1st.

Upward of $[illegible] worth of goods were forwarded from the woolen mills to San Francisco and Portland last week.

Farmers are meeting with excellent success in the gathering of their crops. The weather [illegible] be wished for and the yield will be bountiful. Surely the farmers have no great cause for complaint.

Two young bloods got into a fight while Mrs. [illegible] was lecturing at Gervais the other day and hammered away at each other [illegible] greatly disturbing the congregation and disgracing themselves.

The fire which destroyed about 10,000 rails, [illegible] acres of wheat and some live stock on [illegible] prairie, was started by a farmer to clear some brush. He called in some of his neighbors but the wind rose and the flames got beyond their control.

Mr. [illegible] who resides near Silverton Marion county let his horses run away the other day. His family were in the wagon at the time and were thrown out, a little girl having her leg broken and the others being more or less bruised and injured.

The representatives of the German bondholders of the O. and C. R. R. recently in our State went up on the west side of the river to Polk county thence to Junction and thence back to Portland making the circuit of this valley in one day--something perhaps never done before.

The Spiritualists of Oregon held a conference meeting at Gervais commencing July 24th some 1,000 persons being present. R. C. Cooley was chosen President, J. S. Hawkins Vice President, E. M. Lingle, Secretary, Mrs. [illegible] Malory, Assistant Secretary. Stirring speeches and addresses were delivered during the meeting which lasted three days, by Mrs. A. L. Ball [illegible] W. Lawson, C. A. Reed, Mr. Cooley and others. Music was furnished by a choir for the occasion.

Mr. T. L. Penney of French Prairie, writes us that an item appearing last week which was copied from one of the Salem papers in reference to an altercation between himself and another man did not give the facts in the case. He says: "The encounter was with E. D. Hutchinson, who is well known in Portland. Hutchinson and his son tried to force a passage through my premises with some stock, whereupon I protested. They pitched into me and as I was about being overpowered, my brother-in-law and my wife came to my assistance and young Hutchinson assaulted my wife in the severest manner, for which he will have to answer before the grand jury if Mrs. Bonney sees fit to prosecute him." We give place to the substance of Mr. Bonney's letter, as we have long known him, and know his character for peace and quietness to be as good as that of any man in Oregon.

TROUBLE IN THE WEST

The Rock Island Union (Republican) says the Congressmen who run for re-election this year in the West at least, will be incontinently smashed. We quote:

The bugbear of Democracy no longer frightens the masses and they no longer fear that a vote against a Republican nominee is a vote in the interests of treason. The art of platform making has attained to such perfection that there is no well-defined issues on principles and voters begin to look to men for the enforcement of measures. It is in vain that party organs endeavor to smooth the troubled tide--in vain that party whips are cracked. The people are very much in earnest in their determination to have new men.

The Waterloo (Ia.) Reporter, a Republican paper abhorring the party management which forces Congressmen on the party for re-election says several of them, in Iowa will get the worst of it, and concludes:

But a defeat although to be regretted, may not be the worst thing that can happen to the party had a few lessons in that direction will teach aspiring or designing men that the people have some rights which even Congressional candidates ought to respect.

The Nordisk Folkeblad, the leading Scandinavian paper of Minnesota says:

The true indication now is that the Scandinavians as honest people will bolt if Mr. Dunnell or any other salary grabber is renominated and the only way to save the Scandinavian votes for the Republican party is to repudiate all salary grabbers and other disreputable members of the party and enter upon a new path of true reform, honesty and virtue. [illegible] If the Republican party is bent on committing suicide the [illegible] by devouring its own poisonous excrements it may not hope that the Scandinavians [illegible] this year as usually will come as an angel to its rescue. This trick is too stale to take now and the Scandinavians are heartily tired of the same.

Mr. Dunnell was renominated salary grab and all.

PUBLIC OPINION

If the election were to take place this fall, General Grant would probably be the choice of the people, simply for want of a better man. But between now and 1876 there is time enough for a dozen men to gain sufficient popularity to make them President.--Minneapolis Tribune (Rep.)

The sooner that the people of the South become inoculated with the idea that every tub must stand on its own bottom the better. The day when the National authorities encourage whiners from the Southern States to run to Washington for assistance on occasion of real or imaginary wrong is [illegible]--Atlanta Constitution

The chances are much in favor of the Republicans in the Legislative contest. [illegible] they be [illegible] to the Senate if they have a majority on joint ballot? We don't believe the Governor will refuse the office.--Albany [illegible]

The third term party has another accession in the person of ex-Gov. Herbert of Louisiana [illegible] Democrat. The third term party now numbers five men and consists of Gen. Grant, Gov. Herbert, Gov. Kemper, Gov. Pinchback and Mr. Watterson.--Chicago Times [illegible]

Gen. Grant [illegible] doubtless aware that many of the Southern people would gladly exchange for some system closely akin to Imperialism the kind of Government which the reconstruction policy of the Republican party gave them. The offense of Gov. Kemper--[illegible] but be at offense [illegible] this sentiment too distinct an expression.--Fulton News (Dem.)

THE DAKOTA CONVENTION.--YANKTON, July 1[illegible] At the Republican Territorial Convention at Elk Point yesterday Hon. Jefferson P. Kidder of Vermillion was nominated as Delegate to Congress. He has served over nine years as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of this Territory and was at one time Lieutenant Governor of Vermont. A resolution was adopted instructing the Delegate to use all honorable means to secure a division of the Territory and the organization of the new Territory of Pembina from the northern portion.

SALE OF STAMPED ENVELOPES.--The effect of the reduction of the rates on package envelopes from eighteen to eight cents is shown in the increase of sales. During the last quarter of the fiscal year there were 1,020,000 issued, while the number issued for the entire year ending June 30, 1873 was but 2,303,000. During the year ending June 30, 1870 there were 138,815,500 stamped envelopes sold by the Postoffice Department through postmasters, being an increase over the preceding year of about 600,000.--Wash. dispatch July 17th.

The Liberal party in Utah has nominated R. N. Baskin for delegate to Congress.

ARRESTED FOR EMBEZZLEMENT.--The Hon. A. D. Wright of Howard county, Iowa, formerly General Agent for the sale of the McCormick Reaper has been arrested at Dubuque upon an indictment found by a grand jury in Chicago upon complaint of the McCormicks, charging him with grand larceny. It is charged that while agent for McCormicks he embezzled thousands of dollars of their money, with which he afterwards established a bank at Cresco, Ia.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JULY 29 1874

DISASTERS BY FIRE AND FLOOD

When a conflagration sweeps away millions of property in a few hours, leaving families homeless and annihilating the products of years of the toil of great numbers of persons, the news of the terrible calamity shocks the whole country. There is a spontaneous outpouring of human sympathy for the sufferers and offers of substantial aid to relieve the distress are not wanting. If a disaster is so great that it appears probable the immediate community will be unequal to the task of providing for the wants of all who have been rendered destitute the circle of contributors extend to wider areas. The great Chicago fire of 1871 called upon the generosity of the entire continent and in fact of Europe for the sufferers were scores of thousands and the property destroyed reached near $200 000 000. Boston lost $[illegible] and thousands of people were reduced to want in the great conflagration that melted away the most magnificent part of the city. But the immediate community and the communities within easy hailing distance were able to provide all necessary relief. Nevertheless the Boston fire filled the hearts of the people of every section of the nation with the sense of a common misfortune. Such is the effect of the destruction by fire of vast property even though in such calamities it seldom happens that there is any considerable loss of life.

Only a few mornings ago the telegraph brought news of the bursting of a water spout upon the town of Eureka, in Nevada, by which the major part of the place was destroyed in a moment, and many lives were lost. So sudden was the occurrence that the people had not time to get out of their houses before houses and people were carried away together on the torrent of angry waters. With but a single wail of despair they went down among the timbers of the buildings and the mass of earth and stone that was swept through the narrow defile in which the town was situated.

The details of a similar visitation upon a much larger place are just now being told by the Eastern dispatches. Pittsburgh and Allegheny City—which practically are all one city—have been deluged by the sudden rising of the Allegheny river supposed to have been caused by a waterspout. The destruction of property if we may believe the dispatches exceeds that of the great Boston fire reaching $100 000,000. And besides this the loss of life is really appalling. Over 200 persons perished outright. Not all the fires great and small, that have occurred within these years of conflagration have been attended with so great destruction of life. The city is located in a narrow gorge or canyon with high hills on each side and the Allegheny river passes from the north through the defile to its junction with the Monongahela at the lower end of the city. On the Allegheny City side of the stream the valley narrows and the bluffs are steeper than on the Pittsburgh side where the city has climbed up the hillsides and is less exposed to such a disaster as that which has just been experienced. It is probable therefore that most of the damage is on the Allegheny side of the stream. The damages are in all probability considerably exaggerated, as is almost invariably the case when a great calamity befalls a place but it is scarcely likely the casualties in the way of loss of life are overstated.

But the country is not shocked at this occurrence as at the great fires. More harmful, always more fraught with fatality a flood such as this carries less of terror and excites less of pity than a conflagration.

PEACE COMMISSIONER MEACHAM

Those who are curious to know where the money goes may think it not impertinent for us to state that Mr A B Meacham drew pay as Modoc Peace Commissioner up to last February. The Commission had ceased to exist long before that time the Modocs had been tried before a military court and those of them that were convicted had been hanged nearly six months before February. It is well known the Commission existed but a few weeks. And yet Meacham drew pay for a whole year—$6 000. That is a small specimen of the manner in which the Treasury of the country is laid under tribute to support impecunious party politicians. There is less ground for finding fault with Meacham for this misappropriation of the public money than with the authorities at Washington who paid it to him. In these times men generally take whatever is allowed them and a man in private life is hardly to be criticised very severely for being no better than his times. But there can be no justification for such use of the public money by the officers charged with the Indian service. We have no definite information whether this $6 000 was paid to Mr Meacham in hand or credited on his account with the government. His books as Superintendent of Indian Affairs do not balance by a good many thousands and it may be the Indian Bureau thought this would be a nice way to reduce the balance.

It is becoming apparent that nothing short of a judicial investigation in the Civil Courts will bring out the truth in the Beecher Tilton case. The Church Committee engaged in the affair are making a farce of it. They have evidently supposed themselves capable of devising modes of procedure better calculated to reach desired results than those which have been developed by the experience of a thousand years of such investigations in the courts. Maybe they are so. It depends to some extent we should think on the question whether the result they seek is to ascertain the truth or to whitewash somebody.

Gen J F Farnsworth is said to be preparing to run as an independent candidate for Congress in the Fourth Illinois District. The present incumbent Gen S A Hurlbut will run again and if Gen Farnsworth persists in his purpose a lively contest is expected.

Storms of unprecedented severity are occurring in various localities throughout the Atlantic States. In a few days the country will be deluged with pseudo scientific speculations upon the connection between the storms and the comet.

The Dalles Federal Republican does not stand the hot weather very well. Its friends should not be discouraged however as it will come to its senses when the dog days are over.

A SERIES OF BLUNDERS

The chief subject that burdens the telegraph still is the great scandal. It fills the columns of all the papers with matter the publication of which under any other imaginable combination of circumstances would be considered wholly inexcusable but the suppression of which under the circumstances actually existing would be [illegible]. It [illegible] be perceived that the farce has only just commenced. A singular fatality appears to have controlled the conduct of the three principal parties to the horrible affair from the very first. Make the best of it that can be made for Beecher and he has been guilty of conduct unbecoming his position and this without assuming that the Graphic's report of the intended line of his defense is true. There is no pretense so far as we know that any of the letters embodied in Tilton's statement to the Committee are forgeries and when their genuineness is admitted enough is admitted to justify the conclusion—nay to force the conclusion upon the mind—that Mr Beecher did some great wrong to Mr Tilton in which the wife of the latter was directly implicated. The nature of that wrong may not yet have transpired. There may be some other explanation of the letters and the circumstances with which they seem to stand connected besides that given by Tilton. It will never be believed by an intelligent public that the offense consisted merely in Beecher's advising Mrs Tilton to leave her husband. The letters especially her letters to her husband and those of Beecher to Moulton could not have referred to any such offense as that. Nor would Mr Beecher have been likely to talk of suicide and all that sort of thing for no other reason than that acting conscientiously he had given one of his parishioners a piece of bad advice which she did not follow, and all evil consequences of which had been prevented by a happy reconciliation between the ill advised wife and her husband. That was not the offense for which Mr Beecher humbled himself before Tilton and the disclosure of which he said would bring dishonor on himself and Mrs Tilton and blight Tilton's children. Still his offense whatever it was, may have been nothing half so heinous as that of which he stands accused.

Then he and Tilton and Mrs Tilton all committed such blunders in the plan they fell upon to conceal the trouble, whatever it was, from the public. Why they should have written untruthful letters to each other, with private explanations that as between themselves they were to be considered falsehoods, but to other people they were to be held up as truths, it seems impossible to explain except by assuming that the gods had made them all mad for the purpose of accomplishing their destruction. And of a piece with this was their taking a number of other persons into their confidences and councils. The idea of keeping a secret by sharing it with half a dozen people who are not parties to it!

By another inexplicable fatality Beecher's friends could not let bad enough alone but must follow the matter up from week to week through a series of years. Doubtless they, not being in the secret supposed the wrong was altogether with Tilton but why did not Beecher interfere to restrain their unwise zeal for him? It certainly was to his great interest to do so even taking the view of the case most favorable to him.

Then Tilton after being thrust and prodded for a series of years and without any more severe prodding than he had borne all along suddenly falls into a fit of unnatural sensitiveness, in which he forgets all the past except his injuries and drags the whole matter out of the grave of oblivion to which he had been one of the most active in consigning it. It is hard to bear misconstruction and misrepresentation upon points that go to the very foundations of a man's good name. Assuming for the nonce that Tilton is the only wronged party, it has certainly been hard for him to sit patiently silent through all these years and allow the partisans of Beecher to work up the idea in the community by every means at their command that Beecher was the injured party and himself the malignant pursuer of a devout and holy man. But having submitted to the persecution and carried the canker worm in his breast thus long without uttering a word in defense of himself it would seem he ought to have been able to continue on in his truly heroic silence to the end. But instead of that he lost all his philosophy at once, and spread the dishonor of his family broadcast with a recklessness that looked almost like insanity.

Of course an investigation must follow. With all its possible evil it was the only course left. But by what fatal infatuation was Beecher led to commit the capital mistake of packing a jury to try the cause instead of leaving it to a set of men chosen by some method that admitted of no unfairness? Various ways of raising a commission for the purpose present themselves to the mind at once but of all the others the worst possible was the one adopted by Mr Beecher. It was the worst possible for Beecher himself because though he may be acquitted and fairly acquitted the unfairness of the mode of selecting the jury will so taint the verdict that it will have little or no moral weight. The world will believe him innocent no more readily after this Committee shall have pronounced him innocent. His case is thus greatly prejudiced by his anxiety to have his case in the hands of his particular admirers. If Beecher has a good defense it would have been a hundred times better for him, and for the cause of religion so sorely wounded in him to have instituted in the Civil Courts an action against Tilton for slandering him and tried the case inevitably by the rigorous rules of the law.

So have they gone on in their fateful course blundering out of one folly into another till the matter has reached its present situation. Where it will end God knows. It appears highly probable that Beecher is bent on injuring his case still further by delaying for some time yet, with the appearance of some secret purpose, his statement of the case. The idea of the testimony being taken before the defendant's statement is filed will suggest to persons accustomed to judicial investigation the possibility of the statement being made at last with especial reference to the evidence already in. If Beecher has a good and truthful defense it can be plainly stated on paper without taking days in its preparation. So much preparation looks as if there might be little else than preparation.

THE PITTSBURGH DISASTER

The terrible calamity that has fallen upon the city of Pittsburgh can not but involve in great ruin besides the frightful loss of life which is enough in itself to shock the entire country. The wealth of the city and more especially of that portion most exposed to the flood consists so great in extent of manufactories as to render the disaster more deplorable than it otherwise would be. The annihilation of so vast an amount of property and the loss of so many lives is bad enough at the very best but when there is superadded the fact that a large number of poor people must be thrown out of employment and a great part of the resources of the city cut off the disaster is peculiarly distressing. It is to be hoped the estimate of the damages which appear in this morning's dispatches is entirely too large. It seems scarcely possible that it is not so. Indeed, we cannot but think there is a mistake of a cipher in the statement. If the actual damage is but one tenth of that reported, the calamity is one which must be felt for a long time by the unfortunate city.

JOHN BRIGHT ON THE EMMA MINE SWINDLE.—The Emma Mine transaction is being pretty thoroughly ventilated through the English papers just now. A correspondent who wrote to John Bright detailing the story of his wrongs received a reply from which we make the following extract:

The Emma Mine business is a dismal story but I think you must see that I can do nothing in it. I am astonished that men should venture in such undertakings and especially that men should be led or misled by names of public men and politicians. I allow politicians if you like in politics but not in investments of money [illegible] of all in mining. I do not suppose anything will be recovered from the rascals in the States. Whether you can get anything from their allies or dupes in this country is a question of facts and of law about which I can give no opinion. You must excuse me from expressing any public opinion upon the melancholy story about which you have written me.

A MANITOBAN DIGNITARY IN DURANCE.—The Attorney General of Manitoba has little reason to love the land of the free and the home of the brave. A few days since he was attacked and flogged on the steps of a hotel in St Paul Minnesota. Just previously the following incident occurred:

H J Clarke Attorney General of Manitoba arrived at St Paul on Saturday from Winnipeg. On alighting from the cars his baggage was attached for several hundred dollars due a citizen and he was held till Clarke deposited the amount of his debt in bank as security.

The people of St Paul bear resentments too long. They cannot forget the Lord Gordon sensation.

The probable coalition of Republicans and Farmers in Missouri is a cause of great unhappiness to the Democratic organs. They are unceasing in their warnings to the farmers to shun such an unholy union. The Kansas City Times for instance makes this seductive appeal: The coalition is doomed to defeat and we hope the true Grangers of the State will take steps to speedily extricate their noble organization from the ruin and dishonor that will result from identifying it with the Radical party.

The reappointment of Hon W G Whitson as Associate Justice of the Supreme Court of Idaho is received with great satisfaction in the Territory. His friends down here—and everybody is his friend who ever knew him—are truly glad of his reappointment. He possesses in a high degree the three requisite qualifications for the office. Honesty, industry and capability.

A Convention whose purpose it shall be to give birth to a party with hard money for a leading issue has been called in Illinois. The signers of the call are members of the Democratic State Committee of the Liberal Committee and several prominent citizens of Chicago. The Convention will meet at Springfield on Sept 1st.

WEDNESDAY MORNING JULY 29 1874

CITY.

A CHANGE [illegible] — After all it appears that no brick building is to be erected at the corner of Second and Stark streets notwithstanding [illegible] to that effect have been made. The old stable which stood at the corner was sold and [illegible] carried away by piece[illegible] [illegible] were [illegible] allow the building to be moved otherwise. Excavation has [illegible] where the old stable stood for the foundation of a building which [illegible]. One small wooden [illegible] constituting a row of buildings has been moved back along the Second street and turned around so as to front on [illegible]. The long wooden building which for many years has served the Washington [illegible] Armory, and long before the organization of that company as a place where actors [illegible] known as the Willamette Theater will be used from its [illegible] foundation and turned around. [illegible] which has fronted on Stark street will front on Second and the [illegible] will front north on Stark. Throughout the building will be renovated [illegible]. It will be cut up and divided into a number of small rooms which are to be [illegible]. A large brick structure at the corner would [illegible] that portion of [illegible] the improvements [illegible] will [illegible] a marked [illegible].

[illegible] — At length that portion of the sidewalk on the south side of Stark [illegible] First street [illegible] is to be [illegible]. Like the Stark street sewer and latterly the [illegible] the sidewalk has long been an annoyance to the public and an eyesore to the reporters. Paragraphs beyond number have [illegible] the local columns of the daily press for months threatening [illegible] that the Superintendent of Streets [illegible] the sidewalk to be improved in some manner. Many a poor fellow has taken an involuntary seat on the unyielding sidewalk to the detriment of shins elbows and unmentionable portions of the body physical and at times the prospects for a suit of damages against the city for broken limbs were very brilliant. However no person has been permanently crippled and now this sidewalk is to be repaired and we are once more to have peace. A number of workmen began yesterday morning to tear up the asphaltum preparatory to laying in their course of brick in order to make the sidewalk of uniform height. In a short time the perambulating public will once more [illegible].

ANNUAL CATALOGUE — From the Fourth Annual Catalogue of the Bishop Scott Grammar School we learn that that institution is in a highly prosperous condition. The officers of the school are as follows: Rt Rev B Wistar Morris D D [illegible] R W [illegible] M A LL D Head Master. Rev [illegible] M A Senior Masters. [illegible] M A [illegible] Barker B A [illegible] Miss [illegible] Buss Miss [illegible] Stroud Primary Department [illegible] Yarndley Music Master R R Anderson Drill Master. The summary shows that there are 89 pupils in attendance of whom 35 are boarders. The senior class contains 27 pupils the junior 19 and the primary 34.

FIRE — On Monday night about 11 o'clock the whole eastern heavens were illuminated with a fire which was raging several miles from the city. The fire appeared to be burning in the vicinity of the car shops and many were of opinion that these buildings were in flames. Locating the fire more accurately it was found to be burning too far north for the shops and its whereabouts placed at or near the farm of Mr Long. We made careful inquiries yesterday but could not learn of any property being destroyed in that section and can only arrive at the conclusion that the fire was burning among the timber.

THE BISHOP TROUPE — Mr R S Hill Advance Agent for the Anna Bishop Troupe arrived in the city last evening and gave us a call. He left Olympia on Tuesday morning. From him we learn that the Company are now in Seattle and will give a Concert there this evening. On Saturday evening the Company will appear in Olympia and arriving in Portland on Monday will give the first Concert on Tuesday evening. Although not yet definitely settled it is more than probable that the Company will appear in Masonic Hall. The public will be furnished full particulars in our next issue.

FROM CHAPULTEPEC — There is a handsome cane in the city belonging to Mr J D Biles which was picked up by his father on [illegible] the late Captain Kelly during the charge at Chapultepec on the [illegible] of Mexico in 1847. The affairs of [illegible] and the head is of ivory in the form of [illegible] held tightly grasping the neck of a serpent between the thumb and fore finger [illegible] which is wrapped around the wrist. Originally the eyes of the serpent were composed of [illegible] but through long years of [illegible] the [illegible] remain.

OUT GUNNING — The La Grande Sentinel of a late date says: Bishop B Wistar Morris, Dr Nevius and others went out hunting one day this week. The Bishop became so excited during the sport of bagging a covey of grouse that he forgot to load his gun and went after the game with rocks.

PORTLANDERS AT OYSTERVILLE — The following persons from this city were sojourning at Oysterville on the [illegible] inst: [illegible] Northrup, William [illegible] Mr Hogan [illegible] and daughter, Mrs [illegible] Gilman, Mrs Frankie Myers and Albert [illegible].

BOAT WITHDRAWN — The O S N Company have withdrawn the [illegible] from the Monticello route. Capt Randall takes charge of the Welcome and will run daily to Kalama relieving the Astoria boats of the delay heretofore necessary at Kalama.

TO SAIL — The steamer [illegible] will sail for San Francisco to-morrow at [illegible] o'clock A M. The California is announced to sail hence for Sitka and intermediate ports on Saturday [illegible] at 5 o'clock P M.

COMETS,

THEIR ECCENTRICITIES, ORBITS AND SUBSTANCE

The lecture announced by our fellow townsman Rev T L Eliot at Masonic Hall last evening drew a fair crowd of the intelligent citizens who were well repaid for their time by the lecturer who spoke for about an hour dwelling briefly on the principal points of interest connected with the eccentric wanderers in space.

The lecturer began by stating that the lecture was [illegible] [illegible] experiment as he was not an astronomer but had endeavored to collect facts [illegible] which he hoped to interest the audience and call their minds away from the cares of business and trade in which we are apt to be too much concerned while all the vast realms of scientific truth is [illegible] look to us unless we occasionally lift our eyes above our [illegible] surroundings.

Comets in olden time were regarded even by those who professed [illegible] knowledge of the stellar heavens as strangers to our system and intruders upon the limits of our particular universe. And after astronomers began to make calculations concerning their periods and orbits it was found that the eccentricities of the flaming bodies were such that their calculations were often upset and had to be made over in order to harmonize apparent inconsistencies. The Seventeenth century and the eighteenth year of that century were central period in the history of comets and of astronomy in general. About that time Galileo demonstrated the laws [illegible] which all the heavenly bodies were found to obey and Kepler proved the existence of the principle which had given him a fame as wide as the science is known.

Short histories were given of some of the most celebrated comets that have come within the range of vision of the denizens of our planet from which we learn that the visits of most of them are [illegible] few and far between. The great comet of 1680 has perhaps been observed by the people of the earth once in about every 575 years and is one of the largest and most brilliant of all but as it will not reappear until the year 2255 it is not an object of great interest to us who will be out of its reach. Halley's comet puts in an appearance once in 75 years and is not expected until 1920. Lexell's comet would have paid us a visit every 5½ years but in 1781 it collided with the satellites of Jupiter and went off on a tangent no one knows where. Encke's comet with an orbit which it traverses in three years and four months has been observed many times. The comets of 1843 and 1858 are remembered by many. The former was noted as going within 80,000 miles of the sun and from which at its perihelion it must have received 47,000 times as much heat as the earth does from the King of Day. While twice the heat we receive would vaporize every solid thing. Biela's comet has an orbit over which it moves in six years and two or three months. It crossed the earth a few years ago and the only effect was a shower of meteors in some countries while the people of other localities were unconscious of the collision. In fact it is well understood now that this would be about the result of the collision of any comet with our planet. The nucleus of comets was a solid substance perhaps but solid only in comparison with other vapors. Stars can be plainly seen through the tail of a comet which is 90,000,000 miles in thickness [illegible] very thick and at the same time a very thin tail. The meteoric showers often seen were perhaps caused by comets striking the earth. Astronomers calculate that four hundred millions of these meteors reached the atmosphere of the earth every year but their velocity was so great that the heat generated by friction in their passage through that atmosphere vaporised them and they fell on the surface in vapor and mist.

Many other interesting facts were stated by the lecturer and nicely illustrated by the aid of diagrams and a magic lantern operated with oxy hydrogen gas by Mr Stephens. We regret that the lateness of the hour prevents our giving a full synopsis of the whole lecture.

SAD CASE OF DROWNING.

A small lad aged thirteen years Charles Meston was drowned on Monday evening about nine o'clock at a point nearly 200 yards south of Smith's mill in the upper end of the city. In company with a number of boys Charles went to take a bath. He could not swim but stripped himself and waded around in the edge of the water watching his companions swimming and plunging about. Charles was not aware that several yards beyond the shore the bank sloped off nearly perpendicular and while watching his companions advanced too far out. He stepped beyond his depth and being unable to swim a stroke began to sink. His struggles and cries for help attracted the attention of the other boys but they supposed at first that Charles was only playing. [illegible] they soon discovered the situation of danger in which their companion was placed. Those who were close to the boy became dreadfully frightened and losing all presence of mind could do nothing to [illegible] him. A larger boy who was some little distance away hearing the cries for help swam with all his might to the rescue. Before he could reach the scene the little fellow sank from view and was soon [illegible] the boys dove down repeatedly for the body but the current [illegible] was not sufficiently strong to enable them to bring it to the surface and after making frequent attempts the effort was abandoned. Some persons living in the vicinity were informed of the sad occurrence and efforts to recover the body were made [illegible] hopes [illegible] ing [illegible] until the river [illegible] further attempts were postponed until morning. Yesterday at an early hour the search was renewed. However the body of the boy was not recovered until about noon. But the mood of the sad occurrence was dropped on the father of the boy, whose terrible anguish at the recent [illegible] was [illegible] [illegible] Charles was an only child and [illegible] the wife and mother having died [illegible] Charles had been an inseparable companion of the doting father from his infancy and was drawn near to the fond parental heart by kindredship and constant association. He was ever bright from [illegible] and [illegible] position. Under such circumstances it was but natural that Mr Meston should feel the great blow and grief at the sad bereavement.

So soon as the body was recovered it was conveyed to the undertaker and an inquest held. Coroner Wigmore being duly apprised of the facts [illegible] to the scene [illegible] summoning a jury proceeded to hold the inquest. The following jurors were selected [illegible] [illegible] Hunting [illegible] and J J Murphy. After examining the remains and hearing the testimony the jury rendered a verdict in accordance with the above facts.

LIVER AND BLOOD DISEASES.

BY R V PIERCE M D

A healthy liver secretes each day about two and a half pounds of bile which contains a great amount of waste material taken from the blood. When the liver becomes torpid or congested it fails to eliminate this vast amount of noxious substance which therefore remains to poison the blood and be conveyed to every part of the system. What must be the condition of the blood when it is receiving and retaining each day two and a half pounds of poison? Nature tries to work off this poison through other channels and organs—the kidneys, lungs, skin etc—but these organs become overtaxed in performing this labor in addition to their natural functions and cannot long withstand the pressure but become variously diseased.

The brain which is the great electrical center of all vitality is unduly stimulated by the unhealthy blood which passes to it from the heart and it fails to perform its office healthfully. Hence the symptoms of bile poisoning which are dullness headache incapacity to keep the mind on any subject impairment of memory dizzy sleepy or nervous feelings gloomy forebodings and irritability of temper. The blood itself being diseased as it forms the sweat upon the surface of the skin is so irritating and poisonous that it produces discolored brown spots, pimples, blotches and other eruptions, sores, boils, carbuncles and scrofulous tumors. The stomach, bowels and other organs cannot escape becoming affected sooner or later and we have as the result costiveness, piles, dropsy, dyspepsia, diarrhea. Other symptoms are common as bitter or bad taste in mouth, internal heat, palpitation, teasing cough, unsteady appetite, choking sensation in throat, bloating of stomach, pain in sides or about shoulders or back, chills, cold extremities etc etc. Only a few of the above symptoms are likely to be present in any case at one time. The liver being the great depurating or blood-cleansing organ of the system set this great "housekeeper of our health" at work and the foul corruptions which gender in the blood and rot out as it were the machinery of life are gradually expelled from the system. For this purpose Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery with very small doses daily of Dr Pierce's Pleasant Purgative Pellets are pre-eminently the articles needed. They cure every kind of humor from the worst scrofula to the common pimple, blotch or eruption. Great eating ulcers kindly heal under their mighty curative influence. Virulent blood poisons that lurk in the system are by their use robbed of their terrors and by their persevering and somewhat protracted use the most tainted systems may be completely renovated and built up anew. Enlarged glands, tumors and swellings dwindle away and disappear under the influence of these great resolvents.

Wings you [illegible] hereafter [illegible] Dr Pierce's Sanative Pills and you will [illegible] back this [illegible] healthy condition and get rid of many distressing symptoms.

ETERNAL DESOLATION

MILE AFTER MILE OF SILENCE AND DEATH

In the northwest corner of San Bernardino county lying partly also in Inyo county and by the new survey line partly in the State of Nevada is a region paralleled by few other spots upon the face of the earth. We say the world is instinct with life. Here if the phrase [illegible] may be pardoned is a place instinct with death. A huge basin whose rim is the ancient hills stricken with the barrenness of eternal death, upon whose bosom the blasted waste of the desert treeless shrubless and waterless save a few bitter pools like the lye of potash water surrounded by mountains that tower thousands of feet above the sea level itself lying [illegible] feet below the sea. It is a very Golgotha—a place of death and bones. Bird does not fly over it. Animals do not enter it. Vegetation cannot exist in it. The broad sands absorb the heat, the bare mountains reflect the unclouded sun fully and so in Ninety degrees in the shade, artificial shade there is [illegible] means to [illegible] One hundred and thirty and one hundred and forty degrees that is summer.

The hot air grows hotter, wavers trembles with heat until nature goaded to madness can endure no more and then the burning blast [illegible] itself rouses in its might [illegible] a an angry [illegible] with a hoarse ominous roar sweeps mile after mile on ever on over the broad reach of the desert bearing in its black whirling bosom—black is the midnight—dust sand [illegible] and death. Sometimes a murky cloud gathers upon the mountains above then there is a rush—a warning sigh on the wind—a low rumbling in the air—the hills quiver, the earth trembles and a torrent of water leaps and bounds from the hills, leaps into the desert plowing chasms like river beds into the [illegible] and the clouds scatter the sun comes out again the eternal thirst of the desert is not quenched. The raging river was on a [illegible]. In the year 1848 a party of emigrants entered the basin. Day after day they toiled on through the [illegible]. The pitiless mountains walled them in—no escape. One by one they dropped and died. A few abandoning everything, scaled the mountains and escaped. The others lie as they fell dried to mummies—no birds to devour their flesh, no beasts to prey upon them. Wagon tires unrusted, gun barrels bright, untarnished. Such is the place. Mile after mile silence reigns—silence and—death.

Walled by the mountains doomed with brazen sky
League after league the never ending sand
Spreads like the ocean to the lifting eye
And [illegible] wearying [illegible] forgotten land
A curse [illegible] with wrath and smit with [illegible] fierce [illegible]
No cooling mist quenches the endless thirst
That rides supreme [illegible] endless [illegible] grand
Over its dreary [illegible] the storm clouds burst
With hungry [illegible] It is a [illegible] accursed

[illegible] SQUILLS [illegible] ONE LETTER

[illegible] Squills was [illegible] night. Perhaps it was morning [illegible] thought it was morning. Squills [illegible] sitting up with a sick friend as [illegible] the best of the room or something [illegible] with him. His friend wanted [illegible] all night but Mrs Squills had an [illegible] staying out all night. Mrs [illegible] is not a jealous woman, but she had [illegible] heard to remark darkly that she [illegible] to catch Mr Squills staying out all [illegible] from that moment Squills had re[illegible] the idea. On this particular occasion [illegible] never felt so much like staying out [illegible] on a door step in all his life. The [illegible] disagreed with him so much. But [illegible] manfully with the effects of the [illegible] combined with the effort of sitting up [illegible] sick friend and he reached home at [illegible]

[illegible] Squills was awake. Once upon a time [illegible] used to take off his shoes and go up [illegible] his stockings but he had left off that [illegible] subterfuge years ago. Mrs Squills was [illegible] awake. She was awake this night as [illegible] Squills knew it, because she didn't [illegible]

[illegible] you Squills?" [illegible] the question she asks me year in [illegible] out, said Squills. Looking at me [illegible] eye of a lynx from under the mo[illegible] and knowing enough of me to [illegible] hide on a flash if she should ever [illegible] bush she said mildly. Is that you [illegible] "I tell you," said Squills, tha[illegible] thing is wearing, but I responded [illegible]

[illegible] my dear, of course me." [illegible] time is it?" Is it late [illegible] struck twelve, Mrs Squills [illegible] the immediately got out of be[illegible] walked deliberately to the mantel el[illegible] the clock, and then, turning round, [illegible] ones that would have given a chill to [illegible]

[illegible] Squills it wants just a quarter to [illegible]

"Let it want, my dear." [illegible] have you been Mr Squill?" Sit[illegible] with a sick friend." [illegible] the "sick friend" was too thin to [illegible] with that remarkable female said [illegible] so I said

[illegible] s comme, my love?" [illegible] Codger's what Mr Squills?" [illegible] a comic Meteor mo' won'ful 'n [illegible] try, untamed tail ever s long Gran [illegible] coonal magnificent Nevasaw such [illegible] is, giv in word 'honor.'" [illegible] hat the influence of the sick friend [illegible] upper rive heat of that last bottle of [illegible] was upon me," said Squills, "and [illegible] that Mrs Squills' eye was upon me, [illegible] felt as if Mrs Squills was all eyes [illegible] they were all looking on me at one [illegible] like a policeman's bull's-eye." [illegible] I call in the children Squills to [illegible] the early effect of Codger's comet on [illegible] and Mrs Squills, you had better [illegible] at bed."

[illegible] then what do you think she did? [illegible] I'd never guess. No [illegible] could ever guess the depth [illegible] man's knowledge of human nature [illegible] out a glass of ice-water from the [illegible] and then deliberately went out on [illegible] and threw the balance out into the [illegible] she sat down by the window and [illegible] water in the glass through a straw [illegible] felt so thirsty in my life" said [illegible] and she knew it, and then to suck [illegible] water through a straw. There was a [illegible] malignity in the act that couldn't [illegible] have originated with anybody but a [illegible]

[illegible] know how I went to sleep" said [illegible] but I did, and when I woke up in [illegible] there was Mrs Squills at the bed[illegible] cup of hot coffee. [illegible] Squills, it's better than ice water [illegible] comme." [illegible] could I say?" said Squills. "Just [illegible] I was completely at her mercy, and [illegible] coffee is going to cost me a new [illegible] I get through with that infernal [illegible] I know it."

[illegible] SARATOGA [illegible] DIET

[illegible] of the St Louis Globe, who is a [illegible] authority, gives it as follows

—1 glass spring water

—1 cup strong coffee, 1 tumbler iced [illegible] buttered toast, 1 hot roll, 2 buck[illegible] cakes, 1 plate chicken, 1 ditto fried [illegible] poached eggs, 1 venison steak

—1 glass sherry

[illegible]—1 tumbler ale, 1 ditto iced milk, [illegible] 2 glasses sherry, 1 plate soup, 1 [illegible] trout, 1 ditto cold meat, vegeta[illegible] discretion, bread ditto, 1 slice pie, 1 [illegible] cake, 1 plate berries, 1 ditto ice [illegible] cup coffee

—1 glass spring water, 1 glass sherry

—1 plate soup, 1 glass Chablis, 1 [illegible] 1 plate cucumbers. Vegetables—[illegible] tomatoes, corn, peas, salad &c, 1 [illegible] of wild duck and olives. Entrees [illegible] patty, rice curry, mutton cutlets. One [illegible] turkey, 1 ditto boiled ham, 1 glass [illegible] 2 ditto champagne, 1 ditto ice water [illegible] Dessert—Pie, plum pudding, [illegible] raisins, nuts, cheese, fruits &c.

—1 cup coffee, 1 glass iced milk, 1 [illegible] salad, miscellaneous poisonous [illegible] as pickles, hot bread, ice cream [illegible] cake &c.

[illegible]—1 cup coffee, 3 glasses champagne [illegible] water, 2 plates ice cream, 1 chicken [illegible] Lucrezia Borgia, 1 soft shell crab [illegible] 1 asparagus à la [illegible] Lydia Sherman [illegible] cold allé [illegible] various [illegible] baked meats, cake, ice pudding, &c. [illegible] 1 glass iced punch

[illegible] PARISIAN ENGLISH

[illegible] constantly meets most ludicrous exam[illegible] sort of English these Frenchmen [illegible] they try and it would be difficult [illegible] anything funnier than some of the [illegible] one sees on French bills of fare [illegible] if it were the French which I have [illegible] to time read on the bills of fare in [illegible] hotels. I shall never forget the [illegible] with which at the Neil House in [illegible] O, I once read on the bill of fare [illegible] pommes de terre à la [illegible] hotel, which [illegible] simply stewed potatoes. Pommes de terre à la maître d'hôtel. There is a [illegible] here called the Mouton les Lebrun [illegible] has all the advertisements on its [illegible] printed in the English language [illegible] orders are so astonishing that one [illegible] believe the evidence of one's eyes [illegible] them. One man announces himself [illegible] shirtmaker, professor of cut and [illegible] sech a shirt fore. You have to [illegible] title before taking in the fact that it [illegible] fore he means. Another man claims [illegible] dealer in handkerchief [illegible] rolls." And here is an advertisement [illegible] which is worth clipping in its entirety [illegible] OF THE DENTAIRE TEETH AND [illegible] support without hook or spring keeping [illegible] presion of the air. VERRIER [illegible] breveted of Majesty the King of Belgium [illegible] those teeth support ha[illegible] change of not feed the month does not [illegible] to the extraction of the racine and [illegible] support the moving teeth. The Eastern papers all take a rather hopeful view of monetary matters and the prospect of the fall [illegible] In most of the money centers capital is [illegible] movement [illegible] expected to [illegible] a large sum in circulation which has for months [illegible] the lack of opportunities for investment. While business has not been active an[illegible] is not so now there is an undercurrent of improvement [illegible] An exchange from Philadelphia says: The [illegible] are well sustained however and the banks [illegible] but little reduction. The borrowers are almost able to make their own terms, although [illegible] position is evinced on the part of the banks to run any more risks than formerly. With the moving of the crops and the opening of the fall trade a [illegible] demand for funds is expected to arise that will absorb the superfluous greenbacks in the vaults

Shipping Intelligence.

The barkentine Portland from San Francisco with cargo of assorted merchandise arrived this morning and is discharging at Ejander['s] wharf.

The British ship Orissa has a quantity of ballast yet on board which she will discharge in a few days.

The steamship California will sail on Saturday for Sitka and intermediate points. She will carry but little cargo this trip.

The steamship Ajax passed Martin's Bluff, on her way up the river at 5 o'clock this evening and will arrive about 11.

The bark Forward is not yet done loading owing to the slowness with which her cargo is furnished, the lumber going from the saws on board. She will probably not sail for a week or more.

[BY TELEGRAPH]

SAN FRANCISCO, July 28.—The steamer Alaska sailed for China and Japan at noon to-day. The Senator sailed for San Diego and the Tartar for Honolulu and Australia.

Eastern Wool Markets.

[BY TELEGRAPH]

PHILADELPHIA, July 26.—Wool firm but not quotable any higher. Stock scarce and good demand. California fine and medium 30@[illegible]c, coarse 20@25c

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—To an outsider it would appear that very little is being done in regard to the new crop but though things appear so quiet on the surface we are informed that some large contracts have been made for fall delivery on terms reserved. The present condition of the market is some better than it was one week ago but whether the improvement is permanent is a matter of doubt. Quotations are almost nominal at present at $1 40@1 45 ꝑ cental

FLOUR—The supplies on hand now will carry dealers through the fortnight or so that will intervene before the new crop of wheat comes in. Quotable at $[illegible] for best brands of standard extras, good outside brands at [illegible], superfine $[illegible]

OATS—Transactions are limited just now as farmers are too busy with harvesting to give the market much attention. The supply however is ample, and prices are dull at 45@[illegible] cts per bushel

BARLEY—There is a good demand for choice lots for brewing purposes and such readily command $1 50 ꝑ 100 lbs including sacks. Common feed quotable at $1 40@1 4[illegible]

FEED—Stocks on hand supply the present inquiry which is limited at jobbers paying rates, bran $12 ꝑ ton, shorts $18, chop, middlings etc $20

HAY—The new crop comes forward freely and prices tend downward, the quotations for baled timothy being $16@10 ꝑ ton, ditto loose $8 00@[illegible] Wild is scarcely salable at $6 00@7

POTATOES—The market is full of receipts of new crops of good varieties and quotable at [illegible] ꝑ bushel. The report that in some sections of Washington Territory this crop has suffered from blight, or some disease similar in its effects is stated not to be general, but our information only claimed to apply to some fields on the Sound and on the lower Columbia. The matter was well understood earlier in the season but since that time the crop may have partially recovered

ONIONS—The supply on hand at present is not large and quotations are firm at 2@2½ cts ꝑ lb in clinching sacks

DRIED FRUIT—The demand is well supplied at current rates and shipments not resulting in encouragement. Prices are rather weak. We quote apples in sacks at 6 cents ꝑ lb, in kegs 7c. Plums with pits are dull at 6c, pitless in better request at [illegible] c

BACON—The San Francisco market for Oregon has declined to 10@11 for sides and ours cannot be quoted above 9@10c. Shoulders and Hams are unchanged, the supply of all kinds being rather in excess of than below the demand

LARD—The receipts are not heavy and we quote good fresh Oregon in tins firm at 14 cts ꝑ lb, in kegs 11 cts

BUTTER—The same old difficulty exists in giving exact quotations of this article. Good quality of fresh roll will sell readily at [illegible] and a fancy print [illegible] in outside contract quotations [illegible] also while some that offers would hardly command 12½ c

CHEESE—The receipts of Oregon made are light and importations supply the bal[illegible] part the [illegible] demand. We quote at [illegible]

CHICKENS—The demand is not extensive but choice lots of grown are worth $4 [illegible] ꝑ dozen; Spring $[illegible] 50@[illegible]

EGGS—The supply even for the local trade is short, and the tendency of prices for several days has been strongly upward, and jobbers to-day take [illegible] cents per dozen at the retail rate. It is a good time to [illegible] as a decline may take place any day

HIDES—Choice dry Hides call d sell readily at [illegible], green 6@[illegible]c. The receipts are large especially from Eastern Oregon

FRESH MEATS—The demand at this season shows less activity while arrivals are better, prices remain without change

WOOL—The receipts continue to be quite heavy, but will materially diminish within a few days as most of the clip is out of first hands. While we believe that stricter attention to some suggestions as to sorting and packing would have proved profitable to wool growers we congratulate them on the success which has attended the season's business. It is estimated that the receipts at this point so far have reached over 2 000 000 pounds, and that the total for export will reach 2 600 000 pounds. Choice Willamette valley Wool is quotable at [illegible]; Eastern Oregon and Walla Walla 2[illegible]

General Merchandise.

AGRICULTURAL IMPLEMENTS—Mowers, Buckeye new model $1[illegible], Buckeye No 2 $140, Buckeye No 1 $1[illegible], Buckeye Reaper $2[illegible], Hand Rake $[illegible], Buckeye Dropper $[illegible], Clipper No [illegible] $1[illegible], No [illegible] $[illegible], No 4 $[illegible], Sprague Mowers No 1 and 2 $12[illegible] and 1[illegible], Union $[illegible], Dodge's Reaper No 1 $[illegible], No 2 $[illegible], Excelsior Reaper and Mower $[illegible], McCormick's Self Raker $300, Hand Raker $[illegible], Harvesters, Marsh's $[illegible], Haines Header $[illegible] and $[illegible], Threshers, Vibrator Thresher 8 horse mounted power complete $[illegible], 10 horse mounted power complete $[illegible], Sweepstakes $[illegible] to $[illegible] without mounted power. Plows Improved Buffalo Nos 1 to 5 $[illegible] to $[illegible], Tornado, $[illegible] to $[illegible], Wheel or Endless Chain $[illegible] to $[illegible], Wagons, Bain inch to 4 inch thimble skein $1[illegible] to $1[illegible], Pacific do $1[illegible] to $1[illegible]. Mitchell with patent or square brands and roller brake $145 to $165

Strange Headdresses.—A writer of the reign of the Merry Queen describes the prevailing styles of head dressing. The hair must be curled frizzled crisped laid out in ropes wreaths and bodies from one ear to the other and lest it should fall down under propped with forks and wires and ornamented with great wreaths of gold and silver with bugles, ouches, rings, glass and other such gewgaws. Now a lady needs only a bottle of Lyon's Kathairon to keep the hair healthy in truth and luxuriant and a moderate amount of taste and she can excel the historic beauties of the olden times.

Persons who have conversed with him say he [illegible] to disperse the Convention with the militia if it interferes with his term of office. The Democrats had a caucus Friday night to ascertain how many members of the Convention could be relied upon to disband the militia, and thus prevent Baxter from interfering with them.

ANECDOTE OF SIDNEY SMITH.—The thing occurred in Edinburgh, when Jeffrey, Brougham, Sidney and the rest of that brilliant constellation of men of genius were shedding so great a luster upon Auld Reekie and the world. There was at the time a literary pretender and bore in Edinburgh, whose everlasting subject of discourse was The North Pole and whose delight it was to inflict his theme upon every patient listener. He met Jeffrey in the street one day, and, after the usual salutation, at once introduced his favorite subject. "D—n the North Pole," vociferated Jeffrey, and extricating himself from the bore's grasp, pursued the even tenor of his way. The former writhing under Jeffrey's abrupt treatment, also went on his way, when, encountering the good natured Sidney, he related to the latter (with much chagrin and disgust) what Jeffrey had said. "Ah!" (says Sidney) "I would not mind it. We all know Jeffrey. You'll hardly believe it, but in a conversation I had with Jeffrey the other day, he actually spoke disrespectfully of the equator."

SHORT OF PHYSICIANS.—There are French cities of 15 000 inhabitants which have not one single physician. There are cities of 20,000 inhabitants which have but one physician and he is not a graduate of a medical school. There are always posted in the arcade of the Paris Medical School the names of fifteen or twenty towns or villages which have no physician and wish one. Lille is a city with a population of 200 000 souls, it contains only forty-three physicians. Roubaix is a city of 76 000 souls. It contains only eight physicians. The counties in which there are fewest physicians are the counties in which the per centum of mortality is highest.—Paris Letter.
